ST. LOUIS CONVENTION.

Platform Adopted.

Tilden Nominated on Third Ballot.

Second Day.

ST LOUIS, June 28.

Every seat and standing place in the Convention hall is filled. President McClernand is now calling the Convention to order. Prayer is being offered by Father Brady.

The committee on platform sat until 1 o'clock A. M. then adjourned without coming to a conclusion. The serious differences relate entirely to the financial plank. While nothing is officially known, a current rumor, well defined is that the majority favor a plank fabricated by Brewster of New York which is seriously opposed by the Western members, especially Ewing of Ohio. Some members doubt the ability of the committee to report at the morning session, if at all to day. The committee were to reassemble at 10 this morning but has not organized at twenty minutes to eleven. The platform is substantially agreed upon, except on the financial question, but has not been put in form. No reliable synopsis of it can be had because of danger of changes in the final draft.

President McClernand called the convention to order at 11:05, introducing Father Brady of St Louis, who offered prayer.

Campbell of Tennessee, moved to dispense with reading the minutes of yesterday; agreed to.

Young of Georgia, offered a resolution that the convention endorse the reform inaugurated by the House of Representatives in cutting down the appropriations and approving their investigations of frauds, and congratulated the country upon bringing public criminals to justice.

The chairman decided the resolution must go to the committee on platform.

Cox, of New York, offered a resolution that the will of the people for retrenchment, as expressed in the appropriation bills, is and ought to be such, was referred to the platform committee.

Vilas, of Wisconsin, offered a resolution confining delegates to five minutes, except that ten minutes be allowed for presenting either candidate nominated.

Cox, of New York, presented the memorial of the Workingmen's Central Union expressing their views, and asked that it be made part of the proceedings of the convention.

Eaton, of Kansas, moved it be printed in the proceedings and referred to the platform committee; adopted.

Kelly, of New York, at the request of some of the New York delegates, presented a paper signed by many prominent gentlemen in New York state, to show the character of the gentlemen who are opposing the nomination of Gov. Tilden. [Applause and hisses.]

Jacobs, of New York, made a point of order. The Chair so decided.

McLane, of Maryland, inquired what was the order of business.

The Chair replied that the report of the committee on resolutions was not yet made.

McLane moved that the convention proceed at once to ballot. [Applause.] There should be no attempt by the convention to hurry the committee on resolutions, or to bring any pressure upon them; but the convention had a duty to nominate their candidates as early as possible, and he thought they should lose no time in fulfilling that duty.

Woodson, of Missouri, offered an amendment that the convention will not ballot until after the action on the report of the committee on resolutions. He urged that no candidates should be selected, until the platform was adopted. [Applause.] He said, if the possibility of two reports from the committee. He hoped there would be harmony; but it must be harmony upon principle, if success is to be obtained.

Abbott, of Massachusetts, moved to amend the amendment by a substitute ordering the roll of states to be called for nominations, and then called to new instructions and then proceed to ballot.

Wallace moved to lay the whole subject on the table.

Hill's motion accepted Abbott's amendment which was again read [loud cries of "no"] greeted its proposition] that the declaration of a State's vote by the chairman of any delegation shall alone be accepted.

Wallace asked what would be the condition if the motion to table failed.

Blair replied that the convention would then come to vote on the amendment.

The Chair here announced that the committee on resolutions was ready to report and the call of States was suspended for the present.

The Chair recognized Meredith chairman of the committee on platform who said they had agreed on the resolutions, but had referred it to the committee on decision, and are to meet again at 1 o'clock P. M.

McLane moved a recess until 2 P. M.; carried.

Intermission—Speeches, Etc.

After the President left the chair, Pryor was loudly called for and the band played Dixie. When it finished the cries for Pryor were renewed for some time, when the band resumed Dixie and followed it with Yankee Doodle, which was received with cheers. Pryor failing to come forward, Senator Doolittle took the platform and was greeted with applause. He said he had been laboring since he came here to keep cool inside as well as outside. He did not think it was proper during the recess of the convention to speak at any considerable length, and especially not to express any preference as to candidates. He believed a great responsibility rests on this convention to take such measures and present such platform and candidates as shall make victory certain. The Republican party is a great party and not a weak party. He had fought with it and against it. He knew it in its life and outside. He claimed that for 16 years it had been a war party, not only during the war but after the war had ended by the reconstruction of the South, in order to get unlimited control of both Houses of Congress. He saw in the senate a gentleman, Stockton of New Jersey, now on the floor of the convention driven from his seat. The speaker proceeded with further illustrations of his charge that the Republican party had usurped power; trampled the constitution under foot, robbed ten millions of people of every civil right, and subjected them to the rule of a military dictatorship and argued that in nominating Hayes and Wheeler the Republican party have not changed its spirit, genius or character. It will still be despotic, and it is for this convention to set here wisely and calmly, without passion. In such way as to secure a change of administration, and so change the policy of the country and restore constitutional government. Let the delegates look beyond the field among them that the battle was to be fought, lost or won, and the convention's action must be addressed to the necessities of the field and nothing else.

Breckinridge, of Kentucky, was next called for and was loudly cheered. Upon appearing he acknowledged the compliment to himself and Kentucky, and proceeded to urge the broad, national, unsectional co-operation of all sections of the Democratic party to change the national administration. They were here not as Eastern or Western men, but as Democrats and Americans [Applause], and there act only in that spirit and go to battle under some great leader who should lead them to a great victory. It was no common foe they had to fight; no enemy easy to overcome. A party in power controlling the sword and purse of the country and unscrupulous enough to restrain it from using them unscrupulously for the retention of their power. In conclusion he again counseled compromise, unity and cordial co-operation for the common cause.

B Gratz Brown was called and in a few suggestions of Doolittle, to give the views of the Liberals in the present campaign. He said he sympathized heartily and cordially with the efforts to adjust all minor differences and to urge a winning ticket. As for the Liberals, he promised that they should not bolt in the front of the coming race. [Applause.] They want reform and relief, and he hoped the convention would put forward a candidate who would unmistakably embrace these ideas.

Wallace, of Pennsylvania followed with a caustic criticism of the Republican party, which he said had made a ticket born of the defeat of their strong candidate, who was hated and denounced by the administration of Grant. These men were nominated for their negative character alone. He expected tolerance, forbearance and harmony in the convention.

Afternoon Session.

The convention was called to order at 2:45.

Judge Meredith, of Virginia, chairman of the committee on resolutions, presented the report. He stated that a great many resolutions were present and, all of which they had carefully examined and discussed before coming to agreement. He request ed Dorshemer, of New York, to read to the convention as follows

Platform.

We, the delegates of the Democratic party of the United States in national convention assembled, do hereby declare the administration of the Federal government to be in great need of immediate reform, do hereby enjoin upon the nominees of this convention, and of the Democratic party in each State and each of St. Louis, to make efforts and to co-operate to this end; and do hereby appeal to our fellow citizens of every former political connection to undertake with us this first and most pressing patriotic duty for the good of the whole country. We here affirm our faith in the permanency of the Federal Union, our devotion to the constitution of the United States with its amendments universally accepted as a final settlement of the controversies that engaged the attention of the country before the late civil war, and do here regard our resolution never to attempt the perpetuity of Republican self government in an absolute acquiescence in the will of the majority, the principle of republics, in the supremacy of the civil over the military authority, in the local self government of States, for the public welfare, separation of Church and State, for the sacredness of civil and religious trust, in the capacity of all citizens under the just laws of their own adoption to the liberty of individual conduct unvexed by sumptuary laws, in the faithful education of the rising generation, that they may preserve and transmit these and other blessings of human happiness and hope. We uphold the noblest pro acts of our one hundred years of changeful history, but while upholding the bond of our union and the great charter of its rights, it behooves a free people to proclaim also that eternal vigilance which is the price of liberty. Reform is necessary to rebuild and establish in the hearts of the whole people the honest, economical and constitutional government which existed before the late civil war. We denounce the failure of the present Republican administration to accomplish reform as the one conspicuous fact in its history. We denounce the fraud, waste and extravagance which have characterized its management, and point to the millions of unjust burdens heaped upon the labor of the country as the direct result of the violation of the constitutional principles and safeguards of the government. We denounce the centralization of all powers in the hands of the executive, and the corruption and servility it has developed in the departments of the government, and in the states and municipalities with the coming on of misrule and local bankruptcy, which have followed. We denounce the fraudulent system of appointments to the public service, by which the principles of the constitution have been overthrown, the civil service prostituted, and the interests of the people betrayed. We denounce the failure to accomplish reform in the management of the finances, which instead of a surplus, as promised, has produced a heavy deficit, and instead of a reduction of taxation, has imposed additional burdens upon the people. We denounce the fraudulent system of re-issuing the legal tender currency, which the Republican party promised should be forever kept at par with gold, by which they have added over $64,000,000 to the paper money of the country, and have carried the rate of premium on gold as high as 17 per cent, thereby enormously increasing the burden of taxation, and the profits of dishonest contractors. We denounce the refusal to pay the three per cent certificates, promised by the Republican Congress, and the withholding from the public creditors of the means of payment. We denounce the failure to make good the pledge of the legal tender notes and fractional currency, which the Republican party promised should be kept equally convertible on demand with coin, and the demonetization of silver by the Republican party, contrary to the spirit of the constitution, which has created a currency famine in the land, paralyzed the business of the country, and obstructed the resumption of specie payments, a policy which the Western Democrats almost unanimously opposed. The immediate and unconditional repeal of the resumption clause of the act of 1875 and the demand for its repeal." He proposed to substitute therefor the following words: "That the resumption of specie payments on the 1st of January, 1879, not being provided for by the Republican party without further legislation, and that being inadequate to secure this object, and highly injurious to the business interests of the country, it should be forthwith repealed.

Ewing moved, and Paton, of Kansas, seconded, that the amendment thus suggested be made, and Ewing proceeded to state his objections to the clause proposed to be stricken. It denounced only one clause of the resumption act, that fixing the time of resumption, and by implication, leaving all the rest to stand as unobjectionable. The construction given to this will be that the Democratic party wants resumption earlier than 1879. Another objection is that the resolution is unwarranted in view of the question of which it treats. It commits the party to the retention of greenbacks and the perpetuation of the National Bank system and leaves the Secretary of the Treasury with the power to issue gold interest bearing bonds and lock up gold awaiting the resumption of specie payments, a policy which the Western Democrats almost unanimously oppose. The resolution of the committee supports, by implication, a bill for which the Democrats are not responsible; a measure which never received a Democratic vote. [Here there was called and much confusion ensued in consequence of efforts to secure more time for Ewing.] The Chair ruled that as objection was made, the time could not be extended.

Dorshemer appealed for the withdrawal of the objection and it was withdrawn, and then by unanimous consent, Ewing was authorized to proceed.

Another scene ensued—McLand, of Maryland, renewed the objection to hearing anything further. Ewing thanked them for their kindness and the spirit manifested, and said he would trouble them no further. [Further cries for Ewing, "order."]

A member rose to a point of order in which he was understood to reflect on the chair for favoritism and was called to order by the chairman and directed to take his seat.

Dorshemer said he proposed right here to make a straight issue between hard and soft money. [Applause.] By that we will stand or fall. If you want soft money, give your votes to its most distinguishable champions; but if you want to give us any show to carry the hard money States, stand by the platform as presented. [Applause.] This is a compromise, in which the East has yielded as much as it have already elicited a strong protest unanimously signed. On this we will stand or fall. If you adopt the amendment of the gentleman from Ohio then good bye to your hopes. The committee's report, however, gives us a living chance of success. In conclusion he demanded a call of the States on the question.

The resolution offered by Gov Woodson of Missouri, that the convention do not proceed to ballot for President and Vice President until the report of the committee on resolutions has been presented and adopted, is being discussed.

4:44 P. M.—The chair announces the roll of state shall be called for nominating candidates for President. The calls have been commenced. Whitely, of Delaware, nominated Bayard of Delaware, and is backing it up with a ten minutes' speech.

5:00 P. M.—Col. Campbell, of Tennessee, is speaking in favor of Tilden.

5:25 P. M.—Leonard Abbott, of New Jersey nominates Parker, of New Jersey.

5:50 P. M.—On completion of Kernan's speech Kelly, of New York, commenced a speech in opposition to the nomination of Tilden. Before Kelly's name was announced objection was made and considerable confusion exists. Kelly has resumed speaking after considerable interruption.

6:10 P. M.—After speaking ten minutes Kelly was interrupted by cries of "Time," and left the platform.

6:15 P. M.—T. S. Flournoy, of Virginia, is now speaking in behalf of Tilden.

6:30 P. M.—Clymer, of Pennsylvania, is noted the name of Gen. W. S. Hancock. Clymer is making an eloquent speech.

6:50 P. M.—Gov Thos. Swing nominates William Allen, of Ohio, and is speaking in favor of his candidate.

6:55 P. M.—Gen. Brent, of Louisiana, seconds the nomination of Gen. Hancock, and is making a speech.

6:55 P. M.—W. R. Sexton, of Texas, is now speaking, and seconds the nomination of W. S Hancock.

When New York was called there was immense and prolonged cheering. Francis Kernan of New York, advanced to the platform and is speaking in favor of the nomination of Tilden.

6:50 P. M.—Gen. B. Smith has closed his speech and Senator Doolittle of Wisconsin, is now speaking.

7 P. M.—Mr Doolittle speaks in favor of Hendricks and is about closing.

The Final Ballot.

First ballot—Tilden 404½, Hendricks 122½, Hancock 75, Bayard 33, Parker 18, Allen 59, Brodhead 19.

Second ballot—Tilden 467, Hendricks 108, Thurman 2, Hancock 71, Bayard 18, Parker 18, Allen 54.

Tilden was nominated on the third ballot.

The Situation at St. Louis.

The situation has not materially changed since this morning. The Tilden and anti Tilden men appear equally confident, but Tilden's opponents are so slow that time is helping their cause. They are doing what they quietly can to defer the ballot as long as possible. The struggle in the platform committee over the finance plank has been very bitter. Some of the Western members openly declare the plank adopted and any candidate who is placed upon it will be beaten by the bolt of the Democratic party. The central point of the fight has been the principal spokesman of the Western views on finance. Judge Hoar's anti Chinese resolution was promptly accepted as the basis of the declaration on the point, but had to be materially changed in order to secure it being the general character of the platform, which is a declaration of principles and policy and not a series of resolutions.

It is generally conceded that Tilden's managers outgeneraled the opposition to-day. As these delegates have anticipated, they had concealed a considerable reserve force which turned up on the second ballot. The contest was that of the straight Democrats against Tammany Democrats the former leading the latter before they had time to rally. Tilden and the president's appointees on the canvassing board, no attempt was made to reconsider the vote by which the contract was awarded to Bateman, but failed by a tie vote, two supervisors being absent. The contract then only required the signatures of seven members of the board to become binding. Bateman approached Supervisor McDonald, of the 12th ward, who voted against the award of the contract, and asked him, as is often done, to sign a request for a release of Bateman's contract, which accompanied the bid, at the same time presenting a paper which McDonald signed without reading. It now appears that the paper was Bateman's contract, to which his signature was thus surreptitiously obtained. Measures will be taken to rectify the mistake, and the proceedings will undoubtedly have the effect to kill the contract.

Body Found.

The body of an elderly well dressed man was found in the bay this morning, near the foot of Powell street.

Death of the First Alcalde of Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—Don Manuel Requena, who has lived here since 1834, died last night of apoplexy, aged 76. He was the first Alcalde of this city and served as such several terms. He was a native of Yucatan, Mexico, possessed of considerable wealth and universally respected. He was uncle of Mrs. Gov. Downey.

Spiritual Revival.

A great Spiritual revival is in progress here. The work of decorating streets for the Centennial has been commenced

Stage Robberies.

OROVILLE, June 28.—The La Porte stage was stopped 25 miles above here last evening by two masked men. Wells, Fargo & Co. had no iron treasure box bolted down in the bottom of the stage; this said also a wooden one was opened and rifled. The robbers only got $20.

SALINAS, June 28.—The coast line stage was robbed, 15 miles below Soledad, last night, by two men. They took the treasure box, and also robbed the passengers. It is not known what they obtained. One shot was fired by the highwaymen, it is supposed for the purpose of intimidation. It is thought more robbers were concealed ready to assist in case they met with any resistance from the passengers.

British House of Commons.

LONDON, June 28.—In the House of Commons this afternoon Thomas Rowley Hill, Liberal, in accordance with the notice given by him on Thursday last, asked the government whether negotiations were in progress for amending the extradition treaty, and whether opportunity could be afforded during the present session to discuss the principle of an amendment to cover the recent extradition cases. Sir Stafford Northcote in reply deprecated any discussion of the extradition question at present.

In reply to a question by Miles Wm. O'Reilly, Liberal member for Longford county, Ireland, Sir Stafford Northcote denied that a British ship had landed money, arms or shoes at Klock for the Turks, or that England was supplying arms or money to the Turks in Herzegovina. He said England had not done so directly or indirectly.

Communists Pardoned.

PARIS, June 28.—President MacMahon has pardoned, or reduced the sentences of 85 persons who were imprisoned on account of their participation in the communist's insurrection. A letter accompanies the decree of the President saying that the measures for the suppression of the insurrection may now be considered accomplished and that there will be no further criminal prosecutions except in cases involving attempts upon life or liberty, or in cases of insurgent leaders. Such special cases will be referred to a council of ministers before being prosecuted.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—Eight cases of smallpox were reported yesterday, and six to noon to day, making a total of 135 to date since May 1st.

A first class case of smallpox made its appearance in the dock of the police court this morning in the person of a prisoner gathered night for visiting a gambling house, and something approaching a panic seized upon the visitors who instantly crowd the court room and a general stampede ensued.

Alleged Defalcation Cashier Sued.

Suit has been entered in the twelfth district court by the National Gold Bank and Trust Co. against DeWitt Thompson, former cashier and his bondsmen. It is charged that the defendant, Thompson did not properly perform his duties, nor account to his successor for all moneys, securities and other property that came into his possession, and further, that he appropriated to his own use $34,000, wherefore the plaintiff is asked against Thompson for $34,000 and against each of the other defendants for $1,000.

Thompson resigned shortly after the suspension of the bank last autumn.

Stock Broker Arrested for Embezzlement.

Geo. E. Maguire, of the firm of Child & Maguire, stock brokers, was arrested yesterday on a charge of embezzlement preferred by Thomas Dexter. The latter asserts that on March 29th he deposited $2,300 in currency with Mr. Maguire for safe keeping. In three days after he drew $500, but notwithstanding that he made repeated demands for the remaining $2,000 he has been unable to get it. Maguire furnished a bond and was discharged.

Rising Body Found.

The body of the captain of the bark J. B. Bell was found in the ship slip at Oakland wharf last evening, about 7 o'clock. A rope was tied around the body several times with three large iron links attached to it at his waist. A large scar was on his forehead over the right eye. The body was taken charge of by the coroner of Oakland.

Run Over and Killed.

A child, about a year and a half old, named Murphy, was run over and killed by a street car this morning, on Union street, between Hyde and Larkin. Some dozen or more children in the vicinity are in the habit of boarding the cars while going up the grade there. In the present instance, the deceased ran in front of the car, which knocked her down under the wheels. The affair created great excitement among the residents of the vicinity, though no blame appears to attach to the driver, who at once gave himself up to the authorities and was released on bond. The car was what is known as the Bob tail, which in the past have been very prolific of accidents.

The Bateman Contract.

In connection with the Bateman contract for furnishing the city with supplies, which has recently attracted the attention of the press and the public, on account of being the highest bid put in, instead of the lowest, a rather remarkable dodge has come to light. Last Monday evening, during the session of the board, an attempt was made to reconsider the vote by which the contract was awarded to Bateman, but failed by a tie vote, two supervisors being absent. The contract then only required the signatures of seven members of the board to become binding. Bateman approached Supervisor McDonald, of the 12th ward, who voted against the award of the contract, and asked him, as is often done, to sign a request for a release of Bateman's contract, which accompanied the bid, at the same time presenting a paper which McDonald signed without reading. It now appears that the paper was Bateman's contract, to which his signature was thus surreptitiously obtained. Measures will be taken to rectify the mistake, and the proceedings will undoubtedly have the effect to kill the contract.

THE CANDIDATES.

RUTHERFORD B. HAYES,

The Republican candidate for the Presidency, is a native of Ohio, a graduate of Kenyon College and the Cambridge Law School an industrious lawyer, a gallant soldier under Rosecrans, McClellan and Sheridan, a Congressman who rarely made a speech, and a Governor who has been twice re-elected, and is exceedingly popular in his own State. Rutherford B. Hayes was born in Delaware, Ohio, on Oct 4, 1822. He led his class at college, and after completing his studies in Cambridge and in Thomas Sparrow's law office at Columbus, acquired a fine practice at Cincinnati. His genial manners and fine voice commended him to public favor, and his reputation at the bar was so good that he was elected city solicitor in 1859.

At the outbreak of the war he received the appointment of Major of the 23d Ohio infantry. This was one of the first regiments in the field, and had a distinguished leader—Gen. William S Rosecrans. Early in June, 1861, the regiment was mustered into service for three years, but before it left Camp Chase its commander received a commission as Brigadier General in the regular army. Early in July the regiment was ordered to Clarksburg, W. Va., and had its first active service in hunting down the guerrillas that infested the spurs of the Rich Mountain range. Major Hayes served temporarily as judge advocate on Gen. Rosecran's staff, and in November, 1861, received his commission as Lieutenant Colonel. In April, 1862, the regiment, under command of Lieut. Col. Hayes, left its winter quarters and moved in the direction of Princeton. After two weeks of skirmishing and foraging, the force was attacked by four regiments of infantry under command of Gen. Heath, and after making a determined stand, was compelled to retire. In the heart of August orders were received to march with all possible dispatch to the Great Kanawha. The regiment made 104 miles in about three days, embarked on transports for Parkersburg, and took the cars for Washington, where it joined Gen. McClellan's army.

The first shots at South Mountain were fired by Col. Hayes' command. The regiment was ordered to ascend the mountain at an early hour by an unfrequented road. The enemy were posted behind stone walls, and greatly outnumbered their assailants, and the regiment was exposed to a murderous fire of musketry and grape at short range. Out of the 350 men who went into action. 100 soon lay dead or wounded on the field. Lieut. Col Hayes was badly wounded, his arm being broken, and the command devolved upon Major Comly. The commander, however, was not ready for ambulance or hospital, there was still a good deal of fight in him, for he rapped on the field undaunted, with his wound half dressed, and fought until he was so weak that his men had to carry him away. After the battle of Antietam the regiment was ordered to the Kanawha valley. Lieut. Col. Hayes was appointed to the colonelcy of the regiment, and in December, 1862, was placed in the command of the first brigade of the Kanawha division. During the campaign of 1863 his division was exposed to arduous rather than dangerous service, but in 1864 he won his promotion by his gallantry at the battle of Opequan, Col. Hayes' brigade, after advancing across several open fields, gained the crest of a hill and caught a glimpse of the enemy's line. Moving forward under a heavy fire this brigade dashed through a fringe of underbrush and halted on the edge of a slough 40 or 50 yards wide and nearly waist deep. When he saw the whole line wavering, Col. Hayes plunged in under a shower of bullets and grape, and dragged his way through

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 29, 1876.

TILDEN NOMINATED.

As was pretty generally expected, Mr. Tilden of New York, was nominated by the Democratic national convention at St. Louis yesterday, on the third ballot. Mr. Tilden led from the start. On the first ballot he received 4191 votes to 1221 votes for Hendricks, 75 for Hancock, 56 for Allen, 53 for Bayard, 19 for Broadhead and 18 for Parker. On the second ballot Mr. Tilden's real strength began to show itself in the largely increased vote of 467, to 108 for Hendricks, 71 for Hancock, 54 for Allen, 18 for Parker and Bayard, who tied, 2 for Thurman. What the figures were on the third ballot has not been stated, only the brief message: "Tilden was nominated on the third ballot" came over the wires.

Mr. Tilden is "the Democratic favorite son" of New York, and is also the strongest man of that party. He has been for years an active participant in the political affairs of New York, and lately has been prominent in connection with the reformation of the canal system and management. Just how far Mr. Tilden has been actuated by a genuine spirit of reform in taking his recent stand against the canal ring, some persons find it difficult to determine. There are those who say that Sammy Tilden's most distinguishing characteristic as a politician has ever been his quick perception of the drift of popular opinion, and his nice adaptation of means to put himself in such a position as to appear to be a leader thereof. But lest we should not be considered good authority on this point we will allow Mr. E. P. Ross of Auburn, whose position in the politics of New York is known to all who have been at all conversant with the Democratic politics of that State during the last twenty-five years. The New York World, says of Mr. Ross:

We believe he has never held any public office, but for many years was a member of the State committee, and delegate to the State and National conventions, and in the days of Dean Richmond he was considered the head of the party in his section of the State; but for the last few years he has not been as active as in former years. The reasons he gives in his own way. His son, Chas. P. Ross, is the present Democratic State Treasurer and delegate to the St. Louis convention.

Mr. Ross being interviewed as to his opinion of Mr. Tilden was asked and made reply as follows:

R.—Don't you consider Governor Tilden one of the present representatives of administration reform?

Mr. R.—He claims to be, has made a great noise about the reforms on the canals, but I do not see any great good that he has brought about or is likely to. I consider ex-State Engineer Van R. Richmond, the originator of the real reform on the canals, who has accomplished more in the direction of breaking up the abuses in reference to contracts than the Governor, and that too without making any blutter about it. You must be aware that the contractors and those bidding for work on the canals were for years in the habit of basing their estimates and bids on their ability to secure the passage of laws in the legislature to change the character of the work, or by requiring it to be done with the material for which, under their contract, they were to receive the highest price. This was either done by special bill or by inserting items in the extraordinary repair bill. They generally succeeded either in this or in increasing the price of the work. Thus a contract which was beneficial to the State when let by the canal board would become by legislative interference " disadvantageous to the State. Nearly all of the abuses which the governor's commission have discovered had this origin. Mr. Richmond believed that this system should be broken up, and that by breaking it up the frauds on the canals could be arrested. Nearly two years before Governor Tilden was elected governor Mr. Richmond presented and passed through the constitutional convention, of which he was a member, an amendment to the constitution of the State which prohibited any such commutation to contractors on any pretext, or any change of the plans or estimates, or interference by the legislature in any form. This was submitted to the people and adopted, going into effect the day that Governor Tilden was inaugurated Governor. I hold that the only real reform in the canals was accomplished before he became Governor, and that all that he has accomplished is the showing up the corruptions and frauds which existed under the system which was in vogue prior to the adoption of this amendment to the Constitution, and a system which was abrogated by it. If canal reform entitles a man to the position of administration reformer, Van. R. Richmond, instead of Mr. Tilden, is the man that should be rewarded.

Immediately after the nomination of Mr. Tilden for the presidency, the Convention adjourned until to-day, when the candidate for the Vice Presidency will be nominated. Of course, it is idle to speculate as to who this will be—a few hours more and we will know—but Mr. Hendricks' chances are considered not worth as much as they would have been, had the Convention balloted yesterday, and Mr. Morrison's better.

The proceedings of the Convention do not appear to have been very creditable to would-be champions of order and reform. If the telegraphic reports can be relied upon as giving a correct idea of what transpired, the majority showed anything but fair play to the minority. Mr. Ewing was summarily hushed up and Mr. John Kelly not listened to at all.

The platform contains a plank on the Chinese question designed to catch the votes of the Pacific States; an adroitly worded expression on the subject of finances, the precise meaning of which is of the nature of Pet Marjorie's [illegible]. She said: "I am a Presbyterian at Kirkcaldy, and a Unitarian here." It might mean soft, or at least tender, money in Ohio, and the hardest kind of coin in New York. A sweetly, pretty plea for reform—which is the Democratic stronghold, and a stern denunciation, in the style of "the heavy father" of Republican ruination, generally. The platform was distasteful to a considerable number of the delegates, and some hints have been thrown out of a bolt. We shall learn the rest of the proceeding to morrow.

THE REFORM PARTY.

The party of eternal principles and infernal practices, in grand council at St. Louis open their battery of claptrap platitudes with the startling declaration that the administration needs reforming. This we have heard before, if we do not misrecollect. The next platitude of the Democratic broadside, expressed or pretty plainly implied, is, that they, the aforesaid party of eternal principles and infernal practices are just the boys to reform the, aforesaid administration. That is like the Mormon declaration of principles: "Resolved that, the good things of the earth belong of right to the saints; Resolved that we are the saints." It is no news to the American people that the administration needs reforming; but it is news, and news that will not be received with the utmost credence, that any such reformation can be reasonably expected at the hands of the Democratic party. To them the country is indebted for its corrupt public service. They invented and perfected the plan of making the government merely a grand scheme for building up private fortunes by stealing from the public crib. They have had apt pupils in the Republican party, but the Democrats were nevertheless the teachers. It sounds odd to persons familiar with the history of political parties to hear the Democracy talk of reforming the administration of the government. The party of Pierce, and Buchanan, and of the Southern Confederacy could do no more decent thing than to keep silent on the subject of purity and honesty in the public service.

AMERICA VICTRIX.

The famous old yacht America, with which Mr. J. C. Stevens, some twenty-five years ago, at Cowes, astounded English shipbuilders by winning the prize in a regatta in which the best English yachts were her competitors, has just demonstrated that she has lost none of her ancient speed and sailing qualities. The America has a history full of interest. Her challenge to English yachts was regarded as little short of presumption and her victory over them as nothing short of a marvel. An English naval officer, Capt. McKennon, who witnessed the regatta at Cowes, writing to the Times, spoke of her model, her rig and the cut and set of her sails as being, in excellence, far beyond anything England could then show—and said that in speed, as compared with the fleetest English yachts, she was as a race-horse to a donkey.

Shortly after the Cowes regatta, the America became the property of an English nobleman who afterwards grew dissatisfied with her and sold her. Subsequently she fell into the hands of a Southern gentleman, and, if we are not mistaken, was scuttled and sunk during the late civil war. Some time after the close of the war, the America was raised and sold at auction, and was purchased by Gen. B. F. Butler, who had her thoroughly overhauled and refitted. She is now his property and has just won the yacht club race from Sandy Hook to Cape May and back.

The cup won by the America at Cowes in the race first alluded to, and erroneously called the Queen's cup, was presented to the New York Yacht Club by Mr. Stevens, subject to the conditions that any foreign yacht owner might challenge the New York Club to sail a match for its possession, and that the winner should be entitled to hold it until it should be again challenged for and won. Since the New York Club have held the cup it has been challenged for only twice. The first time was a few years ago, when Mr. Ashbury came over and unsuccessfully competed for it in the Cambria or Livonia; and the second time, only a few months ago, when Major Gifford challenged for it. This race has not yet come off, and it is impossible to say how it will result.

The New York Club have the right to select any yacht belonging to the club to be their representative, and, as the America has just proved her superiority over the other yachts owned by the club, it is likely she will have the honor to be selected.

Maj. Gifford's yacht, named the Countess of Dufferin, in honor of the wife of the Governor General of Canada, was built at Kingston, after a model supplied by a New York ship builder. She is described as being a sharp, rakish schooner of 221 tons register, carrying an immense deal of canvas and one of the handsomest vessels afloat. She is no doubt very fast and the coming race will be closely contested; but if the Countess of Dufferin should win and carry off the cup, her victory will, nevertheless, be the triumph of an American vessel, built on an American model, by American ship builders, and not that of a foreigner.

THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE [illegible]

CITY.

No Fire Crackers, Boys.—Every [illegible], without exception, will agree [illegible] the practice so generally indulged [illegible] on the Fourth of July, of discharging crackers about the streets is an unmitigated nuisance that should be abated. America is noted for his patriotism and liberty, and he gives free scope to his emotions, and he gives free scope to his inclinations, by burning an innumerable number of those fizzing and pesky little affairs, generally to the great annoyance and inconvenience of the public. Instead of fretting about the streets on the Fourth, it is a state of perpetual solicitude as to where the crackers. The ear is greeted with nothing else but the sharp detonations of these diminutive fiery missiles, and the air is thick with them, as they fly wildly about by the juvenile population. A constant vigilance must be exercised to prevent [illegible] playing your face powder-burned, or clothes from being set on fire. But [illegible] at least we are to enjoy a brief respite from these annoyances which [illegible] over the general pleasure of that day. Mayor Lappeus has issued an [illegible] against the discharging of fire crackers in the city, and the ringing Fourth is strictly prohibited between the hours of 10 o'clock A. M. and 4 P. M. Boys will please bear this order in mind, and govern themselves accordingly.

Base Ball Notes.—A communication from Fort Wrangel says: "I wrote you last [illegible] says: I wrote you last [illegible] the company that was organized for the purpose of prospecting the Takou River, has completed their [illegible] and left the 18th of May. They have with six months' provision [illegible] utensils to make a complete [illegible] of the necessaries of life. [illegible] George Clark, Walter R. Hoyt, Wm. Davis, Hester McKee, Wm. Z. Craven, H. M. [illegible], C. Boyd, [illegible] left, a [illegible] and left here one hour after the [illegible]. This company consisted of [illegible] with one canoe and a complete outfit. Their names are [illegible] Dan Sickle, Daniel Mehlhiff, [illegible] Philip Buckley and Patrick [illegible] over Beaver from Portland [illegible] block this morning, June 15th: [illegible] up Axe at 6 P. M. The [illegible] up, is up the river, Corporation [illegible] a sand-bar. Reports from the mines [illegible] the water is very high and miners [illegible] to work. The first three [illegible] country I will let you know. [illegible] some month later at the mines than [illegible] last year and nearly two months later [illegible] it was two years ago. GEO. D.

Yamhill Built at Oswego.—"We have been shown," says the [illegible] January, "photographs of two [illegible] are back, the Western Belle, of Portland, lately constructed at Oswego, [illegible] The new vessel [illegible] 1,200 tons burthen, which will [illegible] carry about 2,000 tons of wheat [illegible] when her as she [illegible] is to be launched, and shows [illegible] fully modeled craft. She is [illegible] with a full cargo of "deals," [illegible] has been chartered to carry to England. She will be ready [illegible] after the [illegible] with a cargo of merchandise from New York. Some time in the [illegible] of October with a full cargo for [illegible] the Horn around. After arriving [illegible] will be put in the [illegible] Europe, [illegible] sold, and [illegible] ping with the [illegible] countries. It is the building up [illegible] commercial fleet, no better [illegible] the growing industries of the [illegible] to forth than the fine [illegible] and her owners and [illegible] son, S. G. Reed, Henry [illegible] and Captain W. H. B [illegible].

The Shipbuilding Trade.—The case of the U. S. [illegible] vs. In the U. S. district [illegible] day, June 20th, and up [illegible] occupied eight days, [illegible] the prosecution [illegible] were [illegible] Ed Edgar, H. H. [illegible] McCollough, J. D. [illegible] Mathews, P. [illegible] Wm. F. Magoon [illegible] John A. Frank Pate [illegible] Chandorffer, H. C. [illegible] the defense Gen. W. Day, [illegible] Lord, Moreland, [illegible] Dr. Davis Curtis [illegible] Dr. Durbin, F. M. Gilliam, W. [illegible] Rowe, J. H. Mullkey, Jos. Cunningham, [illegible]; for rebuttal C. A. Tichenor, [illegible] Jr., Dan Kenney, Wm. Hargrave, [illegible] Wm. M. J. Tompkins, N. E. Hall, [illegible] White, F. M. Tompkins, W. H. [illegible] Emil Schutz, Samuel Iverse, [illegible] Total number of witnesses [illegible].

Hon. Jeremiah.—Mr. Geo. C. [illegible] has on our table a solid block of oak [illegible] the trunk of a small tree, [illegible] in diameter. There is nothing [illegible] the block, excepting that in [illegible] deeply and firmly imbedded [illegible] On the side can be [illegible] ly [illegible] the top of the horn where it [illegible] the animal's head, and on the [illegible] Mr. Reed recently threw [illegible] around the [illegible] and got a pack of the [illegible] probably 20, or more [illegible] Mixed in the folds of what [illegible] not an oak sapling, when [illegible] born. As the seasons [illegible] horn was gradually [illegible] and [illegible] spread about it until [illegible] exposed. It is a [illegible] horn is in an excellent [illegible] notwithstanding its long [illegible] seems. The tree to which [illegible] Dalles imbedded, was cut near [illegible] Wallamet, a short distance [illegible].

New Buildings.—Hay & Co's [illegible] one story block with shop [illegible] and Salmon streets, [illegible] damaged by fire, have been [illegible] former location, First and [illegible] and they have been re[illegible] and are now ready [illegible] The Portland Hotel, brick, corner [illegible], is rapidly approaching [illegible] and when finished will present [illegible] appearance. Strowbridge's building erected on Second between Yamhill [illegible], will be started when the [illegible] moved from the basements and [illegible] inside. There are some other [illegible] going up, and business in this [illegible] lively.

Base Ball.—A member of the [illegible] & C. claims the loss of several [illegible] who were obliged to absent themselves [illegible] same with the Pioneers [illegible] same practice game. They [illegible] strong nine upon their appearance. [illegible] Space will not permit of giving [illegible] man's letter.

Election of Officers.—At a [illegible] of Excelsior Lodge No. [illegible] Pythias, the following officers were [illegible] for the ensuing term: [illegible] C. C. Arthur Wilson, V. C. [illegible], Prelate, Theo. Barker, K. [illegible]. To Jurymen.—Mr. Morrow's little [illegible] who are to ride in the Fourth of July [illegible] meet this Thursday [illegible] room at the Centennial [illegible] 4 full attendance desired.

Dropped.—[illegible] the Portland [illegible] Captain Wm. M. [illegible] infantry, was dropped from the [illegible] for disobedience [illegible] on Fire [illegible].

Out of the water out of pocket [illegible] charge [illegible] the wrecks and were [illegible] fashionable clothing. Beck [illegible] have the advantage. Grand sacrifice [illegible].

And another firm want it known [illegible] are prepared to wait upon [illegible] land." We refer to [illegible] Oregon, whose store is widely known [illegible] Calif.

BRIEF NOTES.

Clean up.

Buy your bunting.

Repair your sidewalk.

Prepare for a big show.

When will we have gas?

Council meeting at 3 P. M.

River fell two inches yesterday.

Waverly Club meeting to-night.

The air has a sort of fatish odor.

Use chloride of lime—plenty of it.

Take quinine and defy the chills and fever.

Clean out cellars as the water recedes, and save sickness.

Steamer Ajax will sail hence for San Francisco to-morrow morning.

The circus company has arrived, and the average hoodlum is happy.

Quite a number of lamp-posts need repairing before the gas is turned on.

Star spangled stockings have arrived. All patriotic ladies should wear them.

The Brunswick, Balke & Co.'s fine table for the billiard contest arrived on the steamer.

Tiger Engine Co. 2, of Salem, have decided not to participate in the Portland celebration.

There will be a meeting for prayer at the First Presbyterian church this (Thursday) evening at 6.30 o'clock.

Oscar Bellinger, son of C. B. Bellinger, Esq., has successfully passed his examination at the Naval School at Annapolis, and was admitted last Monday.

At a meeting of the conference committee of Lodges of Odd Fellows, held last evening, it was decided to have a public installation of officers of the several lodges on Friday evening, the 7th of July.

Thos. Connell, the police commissioner elect, D. F. Harrington, Thos. Stevens, W. H. Andrus (re-elected), and Noah Lambert, councilmen elect, have taken their oaths of office, and will enter upon their duties.

Mr. C. W. Burrage, county surveyor, states that the water lately reached a point 21.06 feet above the base of the city grades, being 11½ inches above the high water mark of 1862, when the river was 21 feet above base of grades.

Companies F and L, Major Cambell commanding, arrived from Sitka on the California, and were landed at Fort Stevens, where they are awaiting the arrival of the steamship Ajax, which will convey them to Point Presidio, San Francisco harbor.

AMUSEMENTS.

CALIFORNIA MINSTRELS.—A matinee performance was given yesterday afternoon, and one last evening at Masonic Hall by the above company to good audiences. A capital performance was given each time, and the audiences went away well satisfied. Without doubt the present company is one of the best which has ever visited Portland. Every performer is an artist in his particular line, and the entertainment as a whole is in every respect worthy of patronage. The exquisite ballad singing by Russell and Walz; the marvelous female impersonations of Ernest Linden, the songs and dancing of Wilson and Mackin together with their acrobatic antics and the side-splitting comicalities of Courtwright and Sutton, all contribute to form an evening's entertainment of rare pleasure. This (Thursday) evening the troupe will appear at Oregon City and to-morrow evening at Salem. The people of those places can rest assured that the performances will be entirely free from the least approach toward vulgarism and in every particular enjoyable. Saturday evening the company will perform again in this city.

Saturday evening the Italian circus will open on the corner of Fifth and Morrison streets. Quite an array of talent is announced. Elsewhere is published the programme. Read it, and you can then form an idea of the entertainment.

THE COURTS.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT—DEADY, J.

WEDNESDAY, June 28, 1876.

Information filed against Henry Wilde, of Alaska, for taking spirituous liquors into an Indian country.

STATE CIRCUIT COURT—SHATTUCK, J.

The court allowed F. R. Strong $15 for the defense of Ah Ty.

Fannie Vedder vs David Vedder; default of defendant taken, and case referred to J. G. Chapman to take the testimony.

Magdalena Rost vs Charles Rost; decree of costs against defendant.

H. Y. Thompson, prosecuting attorney, allowed $62 50 for services rendered.

B. N. Leverich and wife vs E. Frank; suit for $10,000 in charging plaintiff with larceny; on trial.

By order of the court the following rule was established:

In the matter of the trial docket: After an action at law is at issue, either party may cause the same to be placed on the trial docket, upon application to the clerk, without any order of the court, and thereafter such cases may be set down for trial upon the application of either party, on ten days' notice to the other party or his attorney.

CARD OF THANKS.

We, the undersigned, take great pleasure in acknowledging our obligations to Perry Davis, street commissioner of the city of Portland, for the prompt and energetic manner in which he has discharged the duties of his office during the flood, and for the good judgment exercised by him in blockading the streets, thereby saving our property from injury or destruction, and hereby tender him our hearty thanks.

OREGON.

T. G. Owen, Esq., will orate at Eastport on the Fourth; G. Webster at Marshfield.

Geo. Burnett, District Attorney elect in the Third Judicial District, will locate at Salem.

The campmeeting at Dallas closed last Monday after a very pleasant and successful session.

The schooner Norway had her jibboom carried away by a sea, on her way from San Francisco to Empire City.

Water is to be supplied to the State Fair grounds from Mill creek, instead of from wells as heretofore. The supply will be abundant.

Three boys riding one horse at Salem on Monday evening were thrown in a heap and a little son of C. W. Shaw had his arm broken.

Capt. Bray, superintendent of the Black Sand Gold Mine, Coos county, reports the mine in good condition, and says the sand grows richer as he goes in on the vein.

At the Academy of the Sacred Heart, in Salem, graduating honors, diplomas and gold medals were conferred on Miss Mary Ann Brainard, Alice Hoult, Josephine Fuller, Emma Cooper and Mary A. Smith.

An analysis of the mineral water at Sodaville, near Lebanon, revealed the presence of the following constituents. The rarer constituents—iodine, bromine and lithia have not been specially tested for. The method used is that of Dr. Fresenius. The following are the constituents: Carbonic acid, silicic acid, phosphoric acid, calcium, magnesium, chlorine, iron, soda, potassa. The salts are therefore carbonates, silicates, phosphates and chlorides.

The Coos county Record says: "Friday, the 16th inst., was one of the hottest days ever known at this place. At 1 P. M. the thermometer stood at about 100° in the shade, and even the slight breeze, which could be perceived, was like the breath of a furnace. Many of the tender leaves of vegetables and plants were scorched by the intense heat of the sun, and the boughs on the south side of many of the fir and spruce trees in this vicinity were so burned that they have turned yellow, and now present an appearance of having been scorched by a great fire."

IS THERE A DEFICIT?

SALEM, June 27, 1876.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Your correspondent "Citizen," writing of the State treasury deficiency, says he does not know whether or not the amount will be increased by deficiency for the years 1875-6. The appropriations for conveying convicts and insane to the penitentiary and asylum are exhausted, and no warrants are being issued for that service. Yet I think it possible the revenues of three years may be sufficient to cover the expense, and if so, though not appropriated, the accumulating bills under these heads will not, strictly, form a deficiency.

And this matter suggests a change in the manner of conveying prisoners and patients to the asylum. They are now conveyed by the sheriffs of the several counties who are paid fees for the service. And it costs the State some four hundred dollars to bring a convict or lunatic from the more remote counties. From one half to two-thirds of this sum must be in excess of the actual expense, and goes into the pocket of the officer. These two items are an unnecessary and heavy drain on the State treasury. If the fees cannot be reduced so as to cover about the expenses, it had better be made the duty of the superintendents of the penitentiary and asylum to send for prisoners and patients, making a sworn statement of the necessary expense which only the State should pay.

HAIR RESTORED.

If any who are skeptical of the ability of Mrs. S. Lord to produce a crop of new hair in all stages of baldness will call or write to her at her rooms in National Bank building, Portland, she will refer them to several prominent Portland gentlemen who three months since placed themselves under her treatment and are now in possession of a crop of new fine hair which is rapidly increasing in strength and vigor. Itching of the scalp and falling hair checked readily. Preparations sent to all parts of Oregon and Washington.

W. L. ADAMS, M. D., A. M., LL. D., corner of First and Salmon streets, is curing the most inveterate chronic di... of all kinds at a low price, by medicated, electric lightning cream baths, and by combining the German and French with the American improved practice, mixed with a little common sense. His treatment is, in the main, entirely original, and works almost miracles, as his numerous patients will attest. A lady always in the office to assist in treating women.

Keep the Liver Active.

The above is a sound health maxim. In order that the functions of digestion, evacuation and secretion shall be discharged with that degree of regularity and vigor which is essential to the well being of both body and mind, the liver, upon whose activity they are dependent for their due performance, must be kept in good working order. Calomel and blue pills, besides being hurtful mineral drugs, only partially and temporarily rectify disorders or sluggishness of the great biliary gland. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, on the contrary, accomplish thoroughly what the above medicines fail in doing, and are besides a safe as well as potent remedy for disorders of the stomach, bowels and organs of urination, as well as an unequaled general invigorant. They are, moreover, a sterling antidote to malaria.

INDEPENDENCE HALL.

There is nothing striking in the outward appearance of the old hall, and it derives its principal interest from the facts that it is of ante revolutionary origin, that the delegates from the thirteen colonies met here to recount their grievances, and to ask that the King of England might open his eyes to his own interests by listening to their petitions and removing the causes of complaint; but failing in this, the Declaration of Independence was adopted within its walls.

These additions which have been made to it on either end are of more recent date, and are occupied, together with the upper rooms of the main building, as offices and meeting rooms for city councils, court rooms, etc. Independence Hall is generally known to Philadelphians as the State House, the Legislature having met here previous to the removal of the State capital to Harrisburg.

Visitors are allowed perfect liberty here, and on entering the main hallway, which leads through the building, and turning to the left, you are in the room known as Independence Hall, and find yourself in the very place in which those colonial delegates were assembled one hundred years ago, and in which, on the 4th of July 1776 the Declaration of Independence was adopted. Here we see some of the identical chairs and tables used by those delegates on that occasion and quite a number of their portraits, with others of revolutionary fame, adorn the walls, and there is the original draft of the Declaration of Independence as written by Jefferson and corrected by Adams, together with the silver inkstand from which the signers wrote, kept in a huge fireproof safe, and proof against all relic hunters. Imagine, if you can, that John Hancock occupied that elevated chair on the east side of the room, with Washington, Franklin, Adams, Jefferson and others seated around. After taking a good look at the room and its contents, by crossing the hall you find yourself in the National Museum, composed chiefly of revolutionary and anti-revolutionary relics, which may well claim our attention for an hour. Passing again into the hallway and turning to the right you find yourself facing that celebrated and never to be forgotten Independence Bell, which proclaimed liberty to these Colonies, after which, as though it were too sacred a thing for common use, its side was rent and the great glaring crack which renders it useless, you are now looking at. After it was broken it was taken down from its position in the steeple, and is now provided with comfortable quarters in the rear part of the main hallway. The following interesting account of this bell is taken from "A Century After," one of the finest historical works ever published:

"When the Pennsylvanians were building their State edifice, they ordered an English bell; it was finished to order and brought across in 1752; but the tones learned in Britain could not be repeated in the land prepared for Democracy. The bell, on its first trial in this country, was found to have lost its voice. It was ordered to be recast, and there was skill enough in the colony to do the task; the bell now examined by visitors is therefore American in its workmanship—as by right of its national office it ought to be. Pass & Snow were the artificers who undertook to remodel this largest mass of bell metal in the colonies, and the imperfection caused by too sturdy a stroke of the clapper on the trial, passed away with the British form and outline of the work. For the greatest bell in English America, as the speaker called it, a new device was chosen. This was the selection of the same speaker, and the motto adopted shows the irresistible leaven of freedom among the people, even a quarter of a century in advance of the Declaration. The words executed in relief around the bell are from the tenth verse of the 25th chapter of Leviticus: 'Proclaim liberty throughout the land, unto all the inhabitants thereof.' It was with this device of good Speaker Norris' choice that the great bronze mouth was encircled when it pealed forth the new liberty to the crowds in the square. The bell, in being recast, had corrected its tones; whether this indicates that the citizens threw their spoons and jewelry into the melting pot, is not known, but Norris, in a letter says, 'It is surpassed by imported one, which was too high and brittle.'"

Visitors were formerly allowed to go up into the steeple, but for some time this has been stopped, owing to fear of fire from careless smokers. No charge is made for any of the privileges enjoyed here. Passing out at the rear door you are in Independence square, and it was from these steps that John Nixon read the Declaration of Independence on the 6th of July, 1776, to the assembled people, amid the ringing of bells and the joyous shouts of the populace.

That is Washington square at the right, across Walnut and Sixth streets, though I do not know that it has any history worth repeating. A short distance below Fourth street is Carpenter's Hall, where the delegates from the colonies held their first meetings in 1775. Returning to Seventh and Market streets, you see the very room in which Thomas Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence, and these, with many other places of interest in the old Quaker city, both historic and recent, will be well worth seeing to the many visitors at the Centennial this year.

VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE.

600,000 Acres in

EASTERN OREGON!

For Farming and Grazing Purposes.

THESE LANDS ARE SITUATED IN WASCO, Grant and Baker counties, and are offered for sale in such sized tracts, not less than 160 acres, as purchasers may desire. Here is afforded a most favorable opportunity to immigrants and settlers seeking homes and low priced land to acquire both on the most reasonable terms. These lands are excellent for farming and grazing. On most of the tracts no grubbing, or other preparation of the land for plowing is requisite. A growth of nutricious grass covers the uplands, affording the best of pasturage, while in the valleys and bottom lands the grass can be mowed and made into hay. Living springs and streams water the land in various directions. The uplands, or rolling lands, can be put into crops with the most ... return. Fruit, particularly peaches, plums, ... apples, pears and cherries, as well as the smaller fruits, can be grown in great abundance. The climate of Eastern Oregon is very healthful. Flourishing towns are located at convenient points for traffic; the mails are regularly conveyed throughout that section, and a prosperous population is already established, occupied in farming, stock growing, mining, and various other pursuits.

Terms, $1 25 per acre and upwards, according to quality and quantity. Interest ten per cent on deferred payments.

THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 29, 1876

THE TERRITORIES

The mails reach Walla Walla at very irregular intervals

The rains which fell in Walla Walla valley last week were worth a great deal to the crops

There are 20 logging camps in Snohomish county, W T, that employ 224 oxen and 237 men

Two brick buildings will be erected at Dayton, W. T., this season. That burg is growing rapidly.

High water in the Powder and Payette rivers is causing great inconvenience to the stage company.

Mr. C. Maier, of Walla Walla, was thrown from his carriage one day last week and had his leg broken

Portland is not the only place that has high water. Nearly all the bridges in Idaho are too short at both ends.

The town of Fairview, Idaho, had a very lively row last week, in which an outsider was shot in the leg.

Mr. Walter near Waitsburg, W T., sheared a flock of sheep last week which averaged 8½ lbs. of wool to the sheep.

An establishment for the manufacture of lard oil, and also other lubricating oils, will soon be put up at Walla Walla.

Seattle's first fire engine came to town on the Dirigo, and is a hand-engine from Sacramento, bearing the very excellent name of "Always Ready."

A neat Catholic church is being erected in White river valley, near Seattle, near the residence of Mr. Patrick O'Brien, on land donated by Patrick Hays, Esq. The building is now roofed and being sided up.

The Wold Bros. have set out twelve acres of hops this year in Squak valley, W. T. They now have 20 acres of hops in one field, which is said by persons to surpass in beauty the old vineyards of "Fatherland."

The Intelligencer says: "The rumor being afloat, both up and down the Sound, that there are cases of smallpox in Seattle, we deem it our duty to remove all fears on the part of intending visitors by stating that there is not today a single case of that disease in the city. The only one reported was no worse than a light case of varioloid—even if it was that—and that was quickly removed from the city, over a week ago."

The workmen in the Talbot mine, near Seattle, struck an underground spring, in consequence of which the mine was rapidly filling with water. It was expected that by evening the water would be running out of the tunnel. The incline was nearly full and the water steadily gaining. It is feared that it will be necessary to send to San Francisco for a larger pumping machine. This disaster may have the effect to suspend operations in the mines.

The Walla Walla Statesman says: Mr. Jas. Driver, one of our oldest settlers, sold last week to L. W. Myers, of Colville valley, one of his thoroughbred stallions, for $500 gold coin. This is the second sale Mr. Driver has made to Mr. Myers. The former sale was a span of fine draft horses, for which he received $500 gold coin. Mr. Driver, who owns a fine ranch on the Walla Walla river, about ten miles from this town, has been improving his horses and cattle since 1860, and now owns the finest stock in this valley. His horses are of the Henry stock for draft purposes; and a few of the Bellfounder stock, of which he now owns quite a few head. In the course of an examination of the horses in training at the race course we noticed one belonging to Mr. Driver, a Bellfounder filly, valued at $1,500, which from her perfect points promises to be one of the fastest horses raised in this valley, now so well known for its fine stock.

The Northern Star, Snohomish, says: The body of a siwash called Tom, a Tulalip Indian, was found dried upon the Stillaguamish flats near the mouth of the river, on Thursday, June 8th. The siwash is supposed to have been murdered June 6th by a white man, in a quarrel. A man called Bill Smith [illegible] and the old [illegible] to him from Tulalip to the Stillaguamish on that day. Smith arrived alone at Centerville, and told at the saloon that he "had trouble with his squaws about the fare, or money he had promised to pay him, and that he had drowned the son of a b—h." The water was not over 1½ feet deep on the flats at the supposed time of the murder. Adams found the canoe with a couple of hoops left bottom upward. He wrote to Father Chirouse, Indian agent at Tulalip, who sent Indians from the reservation that discovered Tom's body. The body was very badly bruised and beaten when found. No arrests were made.

LAND FOR IMMIGRANTS.

Choice Farms for Sale.

5,000 ACRES, IN QUANTITIES TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

230 ACRES DUE SOUTH AND ADJOINING the Railroad Depot at Salem, all under cultivation, and suitable for grain or vegetables.

1000 Acres, four miles southeast of Salem, on the railroad, with Mill Creek running through it. This is the choicest farming land in Marion county, with fine springs, consisting in part of the old Rector donation claim, on which I raised the past year fifty bushels of wheat and three tons of timothy per acre. The timothy of one acre was cut on part of this land measured ninety four bushels per acre, and weighed and ground chopped by Mr. Alfred Stanton, of Salem.

2,000 Acres of prairie and light brush land, with timber for farming purposes, bounded by the Willamette River for four miles, beautiful lake on the east, boat landings all along the river, commencing four miles north of Salem—all choice grain land, the largest and most suitable body of land to be found in the Willamette Valley to be purchased by a colony. To be sold from $15 to $25 per acre. This land will all be immediately reserved, and can be sold in larger or smaller parcels, to suit purchasers. It can be subdivided to the best possible advantage, and I can offer any person or persons or colony of persons desiring to purchase homes in the best part of the Willamette Valley, near the city of Salem and within reach of the best social advantages, as well as most favorably located with respect to markets, greater advantages, on more favorable terms, than they can ever expect to realize again.

THE SEA-SIDE HOUSE,

CLATSOP BEACH,

IS NOW OPEN FOR THE RECEPTION OF VISITORS.

J. C. OLWSTED.

BAY VIEW HOUSE,

BAKER'S BAY, OSWEGO, W. T.

MR. DEXTER INFORMS THE PUBLIC that his House is now open for the reception of guests. Its advantages in every respect over any other Summer Resort are too well known to Oregonians to repeat here. To strangers I will say that the place is in plain sight and across the Bay from Astoria, on the sheltered side of Cape Hancock, and very near and adjacent to the Fort and Lighthouse, on Oswego Bay, a beautiful sheet of water, unequaled for Sailing, Rowing, Fishing and Bathing. The dark, forest with its picturesque drives, its mountain springs, profusion of wild berries, wild flowers and ferns the horse trail to the Cape for Equestrians or walkers; is one of the most delightful Panoramas to the eye ever witnessed. The steep bold Island, its caves, luxuriantly wooded Island, its views of Astoria, Chinook, Fort Stevens, and of old Tillamook, in the blue distance.

The courteous hospitality of the officers of the garrison at the Fort, and also of Mr. Munson and family, of the Lighthouse, make that place well worthy of a visit.

The Salt Water Bathing in the bay, within a few feet of the hotel, excels anything far or near, for warmth of the water and mildness of its waves, far preferable to the heavy surf and cold winds for women, children and invalids, while the sturdy swimmer or those who love the boarding surf, in a few minutes walk will find a beach unsurpassed in beauty, hard and level for one continuous drive of thirty miles. At this end are huge rocks stretching out into the ocean, from which fishers take from the sea, Bass, Rockfish, Tom Cod, Perch, etc., etc. Crabs, Clams Oysters, &c., in abundance, (and the Table will never lack a sufficiency of these delicacies.) Boats upon the Bay, Saddle Ponies for the children. Teams to the Weather Beach, Cliquet, Swings, Quoits, etc., FREE to Guests.

Prices reduced from the old tariff.

To those who would like to camp out, wood and water and use of ground free. Groceries, provisions, milk, eggs, butter, etc., for sale at small profit. Campers can board at the Hotel if they prefer, at fair rates. A large Livery Stable, two new and fine Ten Pin Alleys, attached to the place.

Stage Office to Oysterville, Postoffice, Wells, Fargo & Co's office also there. No raw winds or damp fogs, and more beautiful tracks and shady groves cannot be found. The only regret the Landlord has is that his house is not larger, but his grounds are large enough and beautiful enough to warrant next season a Hotel worthy of the surroundings

C. H. DEXTER, Proprietor.
